Knightcote & Bishops Itchington in South Warwickshire*

PRESS RELEASE: For Immediate Release

Stratford District Council rejects application to erect an Anemometer Mast between Knightcote and Bishops Itchington for the second time

Residents of the Vale of Feldon, and their action group FRAWT, are delighted that the Planning Committee of Stratford District Council has once again rejected the application to erect a 60 metre high anemometer Mast between Knightcote and Bishops Itchington.

The views of the many local residents and visitors to Burton Dassett Hills, who opposed the planning application, were taken into account by the committee, as well as the arguments put forward by the five local Parish Councils, and particularly Chris Kettle, Chairman of Bishops Itchington Parish Council.

FRAWT would like to thank everyone who took the initiative to oppose this planning application by writing to the Council and attending the Planning Committee meeting on a wet and windy evening in Wellesbourne.

Resolute and determined action by local people has stopped this mast being erected and has preserved the panoramic views from the Burton Dassett Hills for the enjoyment of the 65,000 annual visitors and people of Warwickshire.
